Waltech Inc.

Your Information Technology Partner

Waltech is an Information Technology company with deep technology, business and industry experience. We offer quality service at an affordable price that helps our clients to drive innovation, productivity and growth to achieve measurable results. Our technical expertise and our ability to deliver top-notch professionals with contemporary skills helps our clients to achieve their information technology goals. Our consultants are engaged in projects at several Fortune -1000 companies worldwide. Founded in 1996 as an IT staffing company, we have grown to a 'Total Solution' company that delivers a variety of products & services.

- Information Technology Consulting

Waltech provides from its large base of IT professionals experts that businesses need. We recruit the best talent from all over the world, including US and provide them with a stimulating and rewarding environment. Our resources have expertise in delivering end-to-end solutions for Web and eCommerce applications, Content Management, Business Intelligence, ERP and CRM applications.

Our recruiting and sales team are technically qualified experts that quickly comprehend our clients' needs and fulfill them. Our rigorous screening and matching process ensures that only the perfect candidate for the job is presented to the client. In this respect we have truly evolved as a technology partner to our clients as opposed to a vendor.

- Managed Services

Waltech provides expert level managed services for databases and application servers. We support Oracle and Microsoft databases and application servers using our monitoring tools and best practices; offering the benefits of Availability, Scalability and Subscription Pricing.

We provide 24x7 remote monitoring services for mission critical databases and help resolve problems. Our services include monitoring, alerts, automatic issue creation, tracking and resolution, trends, planning, and much more.

Waltech's services adapt to changing business conditions and continuously improve on processes and operations. This is essential for any competitive enterprise in the fast changing business environment.

MISSION

Dynamism and fast pace of change characterizes the Information Technology industry. Waltech is committed to aid its clientele by providing services in a combination of quality and affordability.
